Paul Carr

Head Coach

Contact information

Paul Carr began his coaching tenure at Wheaton in 1999, bringing a wealth of experience and success with him from the high school ranks. As the former head cross country coach at Oliver Ames High School in Easton, Massachusetts, Carr produced state championship boys teams in 1997 and 1998.

A USATF Level I certified coach, Carr nurtured the talent of the top high school distance runner in the country, Andy Powell. Powell, who is running for Division I power Stanford University, ran 4:02 in the mile and 8:50 in the two mile. Both times were the best in the nation for those events. His second runner, Chris Johnson, currently competing at Villanova University, ran a 4:14 mile while under Carr's tutelage. Carr was recognized as the 1998 Boston Globe Cross Country Coach of the Year for Division II.

In only his second season at Wheaton, Carr's coaching expertise has had a dramatic impact on the success of the men's and women's cross country programs. With predominantly freshmen runners, both squads posted the best conference championship results in the college's history. The women were second and the men finished fifth, with each runner establishing personal bests between forty-five seconds and two minutes faster than their previous best times.

With an extremely talented group of first year students joining his returning runners, the 2001 season holds great promise and Carr is looking forward to guiding the men's and women's teams to their first NCAA Division III Campionship appearances.

Carr, who also has the responsibility of coaching the distance runners for the highly-touted indoor and outdoor track and field teams under head coach Paul Souza, graduated from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst in 1990 with a degree in Sports Management. He was a three-year cross-country letter winner with the Minutemen.

Pyle qualifies for national meet in leading men at NCAA Division III Regional Championship; Lyons match 2000 team finish

November 10, 2001

WESTFIELD, MA- Sophomore Stan Pyle (S. Portland, ME/S. Portland) became only the second Wheaton runner ever to qualify for the NCAA Division III National Championship meet, finishing 15th overall at the New England Regional meet this past weekend with a personal-best time of 25:34 at Westfield State College. Pyle will now travel to Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois for the national meet on Saturday, November 17th.

Pyle and the Wheaton men matched last year's team finish by placing 14th overall in the 35-team pool. Keene State was crowned team champion with 54 points. The Lyons and their 361 points were fourth among New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference (NEWMAC) teams. Senior co-captain Noah Hill (Templeton, MA/Narragansett Regional) was also impressive at the meet, nearly missing the qualifying mark with a 31st-place finish.

Rounding out Wheaton's top five runners was first-year Adam Paicos (Easton, MA/Oliver Ames), sophomore Brian Donoghue (Holyoke, MA/Holyoke Catholic) and junior Chris Scotti (Walpole, MA/Xaverian). Donoghue and Scotti finished the course almost simultaneously, completing the race a second apart with times of 27:49 and 27:50, respectively.

The Wheaton women also equaled last year's performance with a 17th-place finish and 498 points. Middlebury captured the team title with 65 points on the afternoon. Like the men, the Lyons completed the course as the fourth conference school to cross the finish line. Freshman Lindsay Whalen (Dedham, MA/Dedham) led the charge for Wheaton with a personal-best time of 19:11, a mark good enough to place among the top 55 runners.

Also posting strong performances was sophomore Jessica Jordan (Cape Elizabeth, ME/Cape Elizabeth), senior co-captain Danielle Huston (Plymouth, MA/Plymouth North) and first-year athletes Erin O'Brien (Easton, MA/Oliver Ames) and Jen Walter (Duxbury, MA/Duxbury). Similar to the men, Walter and classmate Linsey Degan (Palmer, MA/Palmer) placed within one second of another, finishing the race at 20:23 and 20:24, respectively.

2001 Preview

August 30, 2001

The men's and women's cross country teams met several expectations last season, but the 2001 fall campaign anticipates greater success stories as both squads aim for the top of the New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference (NEWMAC).

"Our teams began to peak at the right time," says third-year head coach Paul Carr, referring to last year's progress. "We took some major steps in the right direction and we began to realize our potential. There is still work to be done, as the ultimate goal remains for us to win the conference championships."

With an emphasis on instilling a system that includes teaching and learning as a must, Carr along with third-year assistant coaches, Tom Ryan and Michele Doody sense great signs of progress. Taking steps in the right direction, the 2000 teams improved upon their conference finishes at the NEWMAC Championships. Improving by leaps and bounds, the women jumped up an impressive five places, propelling them into second place, while the men bettered last year's finish by taking fifth place.

Constantly working to improve those marks for the new season, the philosophy will be to work harder in order to achieve higher success. The needs have been met over the off-season and with a great nucleus of young returning runners, the future is now for the Wheaton teams.

For the men's 12-member squad which features ten athletes with sophomore or freshman eligibility, the Lyons will look to senior co-captain Noah Hill (Templeton, MA/Narragansett Regional H.S.) and sophomore co-captain Terry Panetta (New Paltz, NY/St. Anthony's H.S.) to lead the pack. Hill was the top finisher at the NCAA Division III New England Regional meet (30th overall, 26:00) and at the NYU Invitational, while Panetta put on a strong showing at the conference championship meet.

Other top returning finishers for Wheaton is NEWMAC Rookie-of-the-Year, Stan Pyle (S. Portland, ME/S. Portland H.S.), who helped lead the team to victory in the James Earley Invitational held at Westfield State, sophomores Brian Donoghue (Holyoke, MA/Holyoke Catholic H.S.), Brannin Buehner (Lubec, ME/Lubec H.S.) and Peter Cahalane (N. Andover, MA/St. John's Prep) and junior Chris Scotti (Walpole, MA/Xaverian Brothers H.S.). Pyle posted a fifth-place standing in the 8,000-meter run with a time of 27:23. His best performance came at the conference championships, running a solid 5:21 pace while finishing thirteenth overall at 26:32.

Newcomers to the men's harriers include sophomore Robert Monteiro (Richmond, VA/Douglas S. Freeman H.S.) and first-year athletes Joe Chadwick (Shelburne Falls, MA/Mohawk Trail Regional H.S.), John Heywood (Oakland, CA/The Head-Royce School) and Adam Paicos (Easton, MA/Oliver Ames H.S.).

Depth will be key to the success of the Wheaton women, as their 18-member squad consists of four seniors, two juniors, six sophomores and six freshmen. Leading the pack for the Lyons last season and returning are sophomore standouts Jessica Jordan (Cape Elizabeth, ME/Cape Elizabeth H.S.) and Katie Knowles (Ludlow, MA/Ludlow H.S.). Selected to the all-conference team, Jordan placed ninth overall at the meet with a personal best time of 19:26, while Knowles finished tops for Wheaton at the Tufts Invitational. She posted a third place standing overall at 20:44, leading her team to a third place finish.

Other top returnees for the Lyons are senior tri-captains, Danielle Huston (Plymouth, MA/Plymouth North H.S.), Annie MacHaffie (Pittsfield, MA/Taconic H.S.) and Gretchen McNerney (Harvard, MA/Bromfield School). Huston placed tenth at the James Earley Invitational at 20:14, propelling the Lyons to second place in the 16-team pool.
