

Faculty Lunch Talk Series
Fall 2015
Chase Small - 12:30 p.m.

DATE	PRESENTER	TITLE
Wed., Sept. 23 rd	Kelly Goff, Assistant Professor of Art	(Re)source Extraction: An Artist Talk
Tues., Sept. 29 th	James Byrne, Visiting Assistant Professor of English	The Night of the Hunter , Bertolt Brecht, and The Film Yet Unseen
Thurs., Oct. 8 th	Hilary Gaudet, Visiting Assistant Professor of Chemistry	How Estrogen Talks with Breast Cancer Cells
Thurs., Oct. 15 th	Dipankar Maitra, Assistant Professor of Physics & Astronomy	How General Relativity Exposes the Secret Lives of Black Holes
Wed., Oct. 21 st	Jason Goodman, Associate Professor of Physics	Serious Games: Using Computer Simulations in a Climate Change Roleplaying Activity
Tues., Oct. 27 th	Geoff Collins, Professor of Geology	Pluto: What did we discover during the New Horizons flyby?
Wed., Nov. 4 th	Christina Riggs-Romaine, Assistant Professor of Psychology	Do experiential learning activities make a difference? Results of a real-world trial in the college classroom
Thurs., Nov. 12 th	Mike Drout, Professor of English	Finally, some answers: Lexomic Beowulf
Tues., Nov. 17 th	Nick Dorzweiler, Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science	Democracy's Disappointments: Lessons from John Dewey and Michel Foucault on World War I and the Iranian Revolution
Wed., Dec. 2 nd	Wanda Henry, Brown/Wheaton Faculty Fellow in History	The Women Who Counted and Buried the Dead in Early Modern England